

CenterPoint Business Advisors provides a comprehensive approach to valuing, marketing and transferring your business. We do this within the context of a multi-disciplinary Exit Planning Framework. We coordinate with you, your legal & tax advisors and your wealth planners to deliver a comprehensive approach to selling your business.

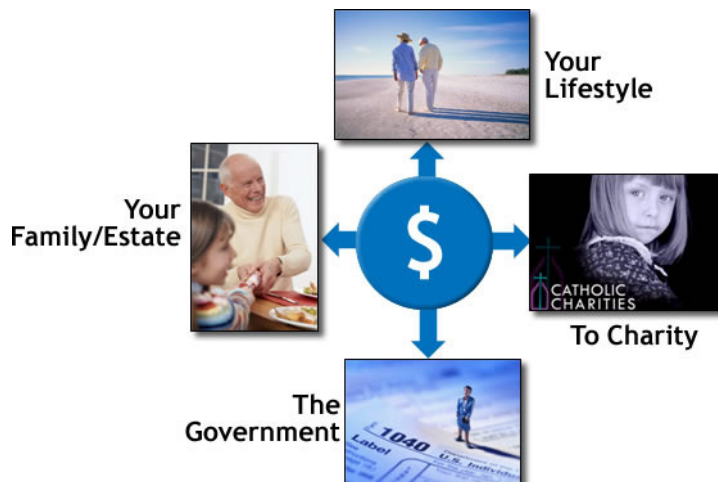

Failing to develop and execute an Exit Plan for your business can lead to large gaps in wealth and quality of life in the future. You only get to sell your businesses once and you want to avoid costly mistakes.

The journey begins with understanding your personal and financial goals and developing a centered approach around matching your resources and future lifestyle.

It is a journey worth taking...but it is not a road well traveled:

- 65% of all small business owners do not know the value of their business.
- Most small business owners have more than 1/2 of their net worth invested in their business.
- 85% of all small business owners do not have an exit plan.

There are only four places your money can go:

You get to decide where it goes, and it takes a planning team to get you there!

CenterPoint Business Advisors would like to discuss your Exit Planning Framework, give us a call to set up your free consultation.

888.988.0999
info@cpointadvisors.com

About CenterPoint

Michael F. Coyle, CBI

I started CenterPoint Business Advisors to apply a dedicated and professional service approach to providing exit planning and business intermediary services for owners of small and mid-sized companies. Our research has shown that there are more than 6 million closely held businesses in the United States and that 65% of these will change hands in the next decade. Also, more than 65% of the owners of these companies do not know the value of their business and 85% have not formulated an exit plan.

Of course the most important business is yours and we have assembled an accredited team and a set of professional services to help you grow and convert your business assets into cash. If you are like most business owners, transferring your business is one of the most important milestones in your life's journey.

Transferring ownership of the business you have nurtured and grown can be an intense personal and emotional experience. Whether your goals include transferring all or part of your business to family, key employees, or a 3rd party, we can help successfully guide you through this process.

Our team-based approach, working with you and your advisors, and using a comprehensive exit planning process, allows us to effectively address the complex task of transferring your business and allowing you to realize all of your exit objectives.

You have worked hard to build your business and we welcome the opportunity to discuss how we can help you exit your business in style; when you want, to whom you want, and for the terms you desire. We offer you a free, confidential analysis of your exit planning readiness.

Visit our Website to learn more about our company, people and successes!

www.cpointadvisors.com

