

CONWAY SHUR-FINE GROCERY STORE TRANSFERS OWNERSHIP

Littleton, NH. CenterPoint Business Advisors, Inc. is pleased to announce the sale of the Conway Shurfine grocery store in the Conway Outlet Center on Route 16.

The Conway Shurfine store offers local residents and tourists a convenient and affordable option for finding quality meat, produce, and groceries without the need to venture to the congested North Conway retail strip. For many decades, this store has offered shoppers a great variety of competitively priced groceries, perishables, beer and cigarettes at a convenient location next to the State Liquor Store and Citizens Bank. The store is most famous for its selection of fresh meats.

After operating the store for 8 years, Tom Catterson decided it was time for him to semi-retire. He will continue to own the Fryeburg Thriftway store which he co-manages along with his daughter. He also plans to spend more time on the local golf courses.

The store was purchased by Jay and Harry Patel. The Patels have been involved in the operation of two convenience stores in southern New Hampshire and are now leveraging their experience to own and operate this larger, full-service grocery store. Harry and his son Jay will work in the store, continuing to provide friendly service, quality meats, and competitive prices.

O.J. Robinson of CenterPoint Business Advisors, Inc. in Franconia, NH represented Tom Catterson in this transfer and Patrick Mulcahy of McCoy Professionals represented the Patels. O.J. has been designated by the International Business Brokers Association (IBBA) as an "Industry Expert" in the grocery industry. CenterPoint is a "Preferred Provider" of Associated Grocers of New England and has transferred the ownership of numerous convenience and grocery stores throughout New Hampshire.
